BARCELONA, March 17.—Seventy-five more persons were killed and many wounded when Barcelona was again raided by insurgent planes today at 2 p. m. In a deadly tide of death and horror meant to speed the debacle of the Loyalists' defense, wave after wave of insurgent bombers today swept over this metropolis and left at least 250 dead.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish border, March 17.—An estimated hundred persons were believed killed today and many others were wounded in a new insurgent air raid on Barcelona, seat of the imperilled Spanish Loyalist government.

The latest aerial attack occurred at 7:45 a. m., following a previous series of assaults from the skies that killed and wounded an unknown number of civilians.

Reports received here indicated the total casualty lists caused by the raids, which began before midnight, might reach staggering proportions.

Fly From Italian Air Base

Government reports indicated the attacking planes flew from Palma, Majorca, the Italian air base in the Balearic Islands. The planes flew at an altitude of 25,000 feet.

Rescue work in Barcelona was still continuing hours after the final attack these advisers said.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Many residents of the district, it is noted are having remodeling work done to their homes. Duplicates are being made and many houses that have been badly in need of repairs are now getting attention.

City garden plots are being prepared about the center. PA News notes. Many a back yard plot is being cleaned and prepared for planting flowers and vegetable seeds within a short time.

Since the library has been closed, a large number of patrons have been turning themselves to the use of the various branches about the city. Miss Alice Stirling, librarian, urges the use of these branches by persons who wish reading material before the opening of the new building.

Thompson's machines and other early spring flowers are getting a good start this spring. The warm rains of the past week have caused these flowers to burst from the ground.

EUROPEAN DEVELOPMENTS

(International News Service)
Europe's darker spots—Spain, Czechoslovakia and the Polish-Lithuanian crisis—aroused fresh tension today and sent the British cabinet on the road to a new emergency as it sought to preserve peace on the continent.

LONDON.—Opposition elements sought to force Prime Minister Chamberlain to adopt a strong stand on Czechoslovakia or Spain or resign in favor of a Coalition government. Reports spread that a serious cabinet crisis was developing.

PARIS.—Holding a momentous "war session," Premier Leon Blum's French cabinet approved a series of sweeping defense measures, authorized $178,600,000 in immediate credits for army, navy and air force expansion, and renewed its appeal to London for aid in effecting a speedy armistice in Spain.

WARSAW.—Poland's government announced it has "taken suitable steps" in connection with the Polish-Lithuanian controversy arising from a recent frontier clash. Political quarters suspected this meant military action to ensure Poland's point of view would prevail.

BARCELONA.—At least 250 were killed when insurgent bombers raided this city almost continuously for 12 hours.

MOSCOW.—Foreign Commissar Litvinov announced the U. S. S. R. will propose a special conference on "German aggression in Austria and relative matters." He said United States would be invited—Germany, Italy and Japan barred.

VIENNA.—Former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg will be placed in a concentration camp, Austro-German authorities decided, as the launched widespread anti-Jewish drive through the Reich's newest province.

Soviet To Propose 'Major Powers' Parley

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
MOSCOW, March 17.—Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov announced to foreign correspondents today that the U. S. S. R. will propose a special conference of "major powers" to discuss "German aggression in Austria and relative matters."

Litvinov announced the United States would be invited to the proposed parley.

Litvinov declared: "Having joined the League of Nations for the purpose of collaboration, the peace-loving nations and the Soviet government never missed a suitable occasion to recommend the most effective guarantees for peace—a system of regional pacts of mutual assistance against aggressors."

"The U. S. S. R. adopted this method in a practical sense when it concluded such pacts with France and Czechoslovakia, which in the absence of any state whatever."

The foreign commissar declared that Japan, Italy and Germany will not be invited to attend the suggested conference.

U. S. Not Interested
WASHINGTON, March 17.—There is very little chance of the United States participating in any conference of the "non-fascist" powers, such as the Soviet foreign minister, Maxim Litvinov proposes to call, it was learned here today.

What is happening in Central Europe is regarded here as strictly Europe's business, and none of the business of this government.

Moreover, officials here regard it as somewhat ironic that Russia, in the light of recent events, classifies itself as one of the "democratic" countries in opposing the march of fascism.

In any event, it is likely the Russian invitation, when and if received will meet with a prompt declination on the part of Washington.

Fire Damages Seventh Ward Building Today

Early Morning Blaze Causes
Causes Loss Of $300 On Montgomery Avenue

Seventh ward firemen were called to the building occupied by Peter Ryan and Tony Martello as a commercial store, barber shop and beer parlor, at 1300 this morning, where a fire broke out in the rear. A loss of $300 was sustained to the building and contents.

The blaze is believed to have started from a carelessly dropped cigarette, as there was no fire near the spot where the blaze originated.

VIENNA, March 17.—After earlier plans to place former chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg on trial as a traitor, Austro-German authorities today decided to intern him in a concentration camp as a widespread anti-Jewish drive was launched throughout this newest province of the Reich.

Decision to place the deposed chancellor in a concentration camp was reached at a lengthy conference of Nazi leaders. Plans actually had gotten under way to put him and numerous other anti-Nazis on trial but it was decided this might have the effect of picturing him in the light of a fallen hero.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 17.—Capital hill today awaited Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti's answer to the invitation of Gov. George H. Earle to substantiate, retract or resign from the cabinet for criticism of the Earle administration.

The governor and the attorney general conferred briefly at the executive mansion last night in the wake of the governor's ultimatum.

Margiotti's latest statement today.

It was Margiotti's latest attack on the "legal mess" resulting, he claimed, from departmental handling of legislative bills that prompted the governor's blast.

Earle said: "If the attorney general's criticism is based on facts, I welcome it. If it is not based on facts, I shall expect him to retract or cease to be a member of my administration."

Margiotti, in a state-wide radio address Tuesday night, promised that if elected governor—he is an Independent Democratic candidate—he would "not receive the people of our state with unconstitutional gold bricks."

Agreement was reached on measures for nationalization of all war industries even if it means alteration in the social service laws governing the 40-hour week. This was a signal victory for Blum, as no previous government dared to tamper with these measures because of labor opposition.

City, County And Ellwood
City Teachers To Assemble March 30

EVENT SCHEDULED FOR CATHEDRAL

A gala evening school teachers' party—a dinner-dance similar to celebration staged here before—planned by the New Castle, Ellwood City and Lawrence County branches of the Pennsylvania State Education Association for the Cathedral the night of Wednesday, March 30.

That announcement came as committee groups representing the three different "teachers' organizations" went to work on plans for entertaining over 450 school teachers and their friends that night.

Peter Christie, Jr., heads the New Castle branch. H. P. Wilson leads the Ellwood City branch and Victor P. Thompson is president of the Lawrence County unit of the state organization. They have appointed nearly 20 teachers to committees.

Governor Earle Supports Jones

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 17.—Shunning today the importance of his own candidacy, Gov. George H. Earle today placed his unqualified support behind Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburg attorney, the stated Democratic organization candidate for governor.

The governor declared it was "far more vital that a united liberal Democratic party survive and progress in Pennsylvania than it is that I seek individual support as a candidate for the United States senate."

Reached in the round-table discussion of Tuesday at which the president opened his attack on the transportation problem.

Mr. Roosevelt hopes to get from these "diagnostic" conferences the final background which will enable him to address a special message to congress.

Whether legislation as this session will be recommended, or a long range study of the roads' fundamental financial and organizational ailments, was still uncertain. It was possible the president might ask for some early-passed legislation, as soon as possible and appointment of a committee to draft an all-embracing program for submission to the 1939 congress.

Report Chamberlain Faces Cabinet Crisis

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff

LONDON, March 17.—Opposition elements launched a sudden and intense drive today to force Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to accept a stronger stand regarding both Czechoslovakia and Spain or resign in favor of a coalition government.

Word was spread in well-informed circles that a serious cabinet crisis is developing.

The Evening Star said: "Chamberlain is facing a cabinet situation more critical than that which ended in the resignation of Eden—former foreign secretary Anthony Eden."

Some leading ministers have become impatient over his failure to take a positive line on foreign affairs. Unless he does so, a number of ministers will leave the cabinet, it was said.

Division In Cabinet
It was generally believed Chamberlain could not survive the defection of any ministers. The division in his cabinet, it was learned, began on Monday over the attitude to be adopted by Britain should Czechoslovakia independence be threatened and was intensified by reports of increased French aid to the Spanish insurgents.

One group of ministers, all young men, the Star declared, "wants an immediate statement of policy regarding Czechoslovakia and Spain."

They held that a firm statement now will present the tension in Europe from becoming worse. While Chamberlain wants to delay until the situation is clarified.

Seek Legalizing Of "Wire Tapping"

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—A far-reaching administration proposal to legalize both "wire tapping" and seizure of telephone and telegraph messages in the enforcement of criminal laws faced searching congressional examination today.

The proposed legislation, designed both to overcome a recent supreme court decision and extend powers of government agencies, was drafted by lawyers for the treasury department and endorsed by other government agencies.

The plan is embodied in a bill introduced in the house by Chairman Lou (D) of California, of the house interstate commerce committee.

Foreign Policy Of United States Given To World

Secretary Hull Gives Restatement Of Nation's Stand At Present Time

NO ENTANGLEMENTS
TO BE CONSIDERED

Nation Will Protect Ameri-

No Internationalism
Policies

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, March 17.—To a turbulent and war-threatening world there was addressed today a clear statement of American foreign policy, rooted in the principles of international justice, and backed up by the endorsement of an American navy capable of maintaining American rights wherever they may be jeopardized.

It came from Secretary of State Hull, at a significant time when rivaling economic and armed conflicts are rampant in Europe and in Asia.

Taking full cognizance of the conditions that have produced an international crisis, Secretary Hull broadcast to the world a re-statement of this government's position, in which he said:

1. The United States does not propose to engage in entangling political or military alliance with any foreign power.

2. The United States does propose to cooperate with any like peace-minded nation to preserve or further world peace.

3. The surest road to war for the United States lies in being unprepared for war.

4. The United States has no intention of "polishing" the world.

5. The United States does not propose to follow a course of internationalism, in the sense that it leads to interference with other people's affairs—nor at the same time does this government propose to be content with a policy of strict isolation from the world's affairs.

6. The United States proposes to protect American interests throughout the world, according to the well understood principles of international law (as hitherto conceived) and to that end proposes to maintain a defense system capable of carrying out this policy.

Thus he said, in effect, that the American course in a troubled world is to be a "middle-of-the-road" course between President on the one hand and Communism on the other—with this government always in a position to be the judge of its own course in a given set of circumstances.

Speaks To Small Audience.

Dealers Against Sunday Liquor Sales

Proposed Move Is Not Favored

President Of State Organization Says Six Day System Is Satisfactory

LIQUOR DEALERS TO ENTER POLITICS

HARTISBURG, March 17.—Pennsylvania retail liquor dealers today were on record against Sunday sales of intoxicants. The Pennsylvania Retail Liquor Dealers Association, representing 28 county organizations, defeated a proposal that a drive be started at the next general session of the legislature to legalize Sunday sales of liquor.

"We are satisfied with the present six-day system," said John J. Callahan, of Philadelphia, president of the state organization. He indicated that the dealers would not support any legislation to liberalize the liquor laws relative to Sunday sales.

Delegates from northern tier counties favored the proposal that Sunday sales be legalized, with metropolitan areas cooperating in defeating the proposition.

Seek To Meet Public Ideas

John J. Kelly, Conshohocken, secretary of the organization, said the dealers that other problems of more importance and of more constructive nature must be dealt with. He reported that a legislative program of mutual benefit to the public and dealers is being formed.

"The liquor retailer is anxious to comply with the public's opinion in the regulation of his business," Kelly stated.

Meanwhile, it was learned, the retail liquor dealers will actively enter politics this year as a means of protecting and fostering their interests.

Callahan said the association's endorsement will be given to candidates whose policies and platforms conform to those of the retail liquor dealers.

The association represents a majority of the state's 15,000 retail and liquor dealers, declared Callahan.

MANY DIE IN NEW AIR RAID ON BARCELONA

Barcelona was bombed eight times. The series of attacks was described as the worst the city has experienced during the entire civil war.

The center of the city was hit by numerous bombs which crashed into streets and shattered buildings. Rescue squads worked feverishly to find the dead and wounded from the debris.

Offensive Slowed Down

The government, amid the thunder of the bombs, issued a communique which said:

"The insurgent offensive on the eastern front has been slowed down. In their fighting a Rebel attempt to capture Aroca was repulsed. Enemy ammunition dumps, a train and lorries were blown up at Escarot."

During the height of the attacks, which began at 10 p. m., huge columns of smoke from wrecked and smoldering buildings obscured the bright moon overhead. Many structures in the center of the city were wrecked.

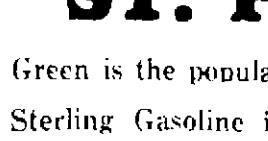

The noise of crashing bombs, booming anti-aircraft guns, screaming searchlights and fire engines was deafening.

Government troops which sped from Madrid to the Aragon front had a hand in checking the insurgent drive in the east.

The insurgents reported from San Sebastian they had captured more than 10,000 prisoners in the Aragon offensive and had destroyed 21 government airplanes. They also claimed to have captured huge amounts of war material.

Liquids and semi-solid foods traveled from the mouth of the stomach in approximately six seconds, physicians estimate.

absorbed Nazi pulse against the Austrian government in 1934, when the late Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss was slain, was ordered detained to full citizenship and was promoted to the rank of colonel. For his part in the 1934 uprising he had been sentenced to life imprisonment.

To Complete "Cleansing"

It is believed here the Nazis plan to complete their "cleansing" by the end of this month in order to permit uninterrupted launching of an elaborate plebiscite campaign aimed at obtaining the biggest majority possible in favor of Chancellor Hitler's annexation of Austria.

The Nazis are counting on a huge majority to prove conclusively to the world that Austria wholeheartedly wanted "anschluss" with the German Reich.

Student mass meetings are scheduled to be held today and the Nazi party tonight will distribute 50,000 leaflets to the Vienna unemployed as part of their plebiscite vote-getting campaign.

Some circles here fear that the effect of the annexation will be to divert Vienna's famous tourist traffic. But officials think this is a baseless rumor.

A reliable informant said Schuschnigg probably will be taken to Dachau, one of the largest concentration camps in Germany, located near Munich.

Nazi circles believe that isolation for an indefinite period will cause him to be soon forgotten by the majority of the public.

Meanwhile, it was learned that former president Wilhelm Miklas is under supervision in his home but will eventually regain his freedom and be permitted to retire to private life. Former Mayor Otto Schmitz of Vienna either will be imprisoned or lodged in a concentration camp.

As the anti-Jewish campaign got into full swing, it was announced that for the present only Aryans will be permitted to leave Austria or Germany.

throughout the world. Some of them, concerning the navy bill, were particularly addressed to congress, where there has been a persistent demand for a re-definition of American foreign policy before authorizing the 20 per cent increase that has been asked.

"The objectives of our foreign policy," he said, "are as easy to grasp as they are fundamental. The means we are using to attain these objectives are the only means approved by reason and by experience. For the sake of the best interests of our people, we must maintain our strength, our courage, our moral standards, our influence in world affairs—and our participation in efforts toward world progress and peace."

Secretary Hull mentioned the name of no country in the course of his rather lengthy address. He didn't need to. Everyone knew that he was talking of Japan's bloodthirsty conquest of China, Germany's ruthless annexation of Austria and other practical acts of the totalitarian states throughout the world.

He recalled that nine months ago he issued a statement outlining the fundamentals of American foreign policy, emphasizing "the maintenance of peace, non-interference with other people's affairs, settlement of international disputes by judicial processes, the sanctity of treaties, and the easement of international trade."

Every nation, he warned, must support these principles "if civilization is to survive."

Crucial Issue Today

"The crucial issue today," he continued, "is whether these principles will be vitalized and firmly established as the foundation of an international order, or whether international anarchy, based on brute force, will inundate the world and ultimately sweep away the very bases of civilization and progress."

That issue, universal, no more than a community or nation, and the world base its experience in part on law and in part on lawlessness, in part on order and in part in chaos, in part on processes of peace and in part on methods of violence."

He strongly defended the administration's foreign policy in the far east, and asserted that there will be no withdrawal of American naval vessels from China waters. All history and experience shows, he said, that first class powers maintain armed forces abroad to protect their nationals and their interests. To do otherwise, he maintained, is to court an invitation to trouble.

To waive rights and to permit interests to lapse in the face of their actual or threatened violation," he said, "can serve only to encourage disregard of law and the basic principles of international order, and thus contribute to the inevitable spread of international anarchy throughout the world."

Then, with current conditions in mind, he said:

"No policy would prove more disastrous than for an important nation to fail to arm adequately when international lawlessness is on the rampage."

"It is my considered judgment that in the present state of world affairs to do less than is now proposed (in the navy bill) would lay our country open to unpredictable hazards, it would, moreover, seriously restrict our nation's ability to command... proper respect for its legitimate rights and interests, the surrender of which would constitute abandonment of the fundamental principles of justice, morality and peace among nations."

W. L. Davis Services

At 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon funeral services for William Lennet Davis were conducted at the residence, 820 Lathrop street, with the First Presbyterian minister, Rev. John J. McIlvaine, D. D., in charge.

Mrs. Grif Lewis and Mrs. Charles Harris sang two beautiful numbers, "No Night There" and "Abide With Me" as a part of the impressive services. They were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. O. Davis.

Pallbearers were John Veiken, Will Houston, Clark Davis, Hugh Davis, Joseph Dunkle and Louis Straight. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

George Line Buried Here

The late George Line, of Cleveland, O., member of a prominent New Castle family, was laid to rest in Oak Park cemetery on Wednesday afternoon at about 3 o'clock.

The services at the grave were conducted by the Rev. Philip C. Pearson, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, of New Castle. A military service was conducted by the American Legion. Funeral rites had been conducted earlier in the day at Trinity Cathedral, Cleveland.

Numerous out-of-town people were present for the interment, as well as relatives and friends from New Castle.

Carminl D. Dominico

Carminl D. Dominico, aged about 74 years, died at 9 o'clock Wednesday night at his boarding place, in Edinburg.

The body has been brought to the Cunningham funeral home in New Castle to await arrangements for burial.

Fair And Cold Weather Halts Rise Of Rivers

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 17.—The rivers were falling today, the second anniversary of the St. Patrick's Day flood.

Though an average of 4 in. of rain fell in this area last night and today, weatherman W. S. Brozman predicted the Ohio river stage would remain level tomorrow.

The river stage this morning was 17.2 feet, a drop of 1.4 feet from the same time yesterday.

Fair and somewhat colder was forecast tomorrow, with the lowest temperature being between 35 and 40, Brozman said.

The Beaver river and other tributaries were causing a slight rise in the Ohio east of Liverpool. Beaver falls and Midland, but there is no danger of floods, Brozman said.

The rear of the U. S. Capitol building faces the principal portion of Washington, D. C. Since the building was completed the city has expanded toward the north and west so that the capitol now is in the southeast section.

last evening, when someone turned on a false alarm from box 45. Many people heard the whistle and hurried to the scene only to find that there was no fire.

Two years ago today Pittsburgh was in the grip of the record flood of all time for the district. New Castle was one of the few houses in this part of the country that escaped a flood at that time.

The heavy rains of the past week have played havoc with all day streets in the city, and the employees of the city street department are going to be kept busy during the next few weeks filling up the holes. In some streets holes have developed as wide and deep as wash tubs.

There was plenty of spring in the air this morning, and the cardinals and robins, harbingers of spring, were serenading the populace with their cheery songs.

It was noted that the fire which was blown twice for the alarm from Box 45 last evening. In the past the whistle has only been blown once, and people have been unable to catch the number when they missed the first few blasts.

Crucifixes are beginning to show their heads above the grass in the lawn of the Korte homestead on Washington street at Croton avenue. There are several pretty yellow flowers now, and promise of more to come. The crocus is traditionally the first flower of spring.

Almost continuous thunderstorm of last night played havoc with radio reception in this area. Few programs were heard by local listeners.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relief nagging backache quickly, upon they discover that the real cause of their trouble may lie in their kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They produce about a pint a day of about 1000 times of urine from your blood. Get this!

Excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to faulty kidney function, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatism, leg pain, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, and successfully free kidneys for ever. Doan's Pills are a happy relief and will help the 1000 times of kidney tubes flush out poisons from your blood. Get Doan's!

tion on foreign affairs for Tuesday next. Questions on financial matters will be permitted the following week and Blum will then ask for a vote of confidence.

Meanwhile, increasing pressure was brought to bear on Louis Pasteur Edouard Herriot to head a new national government which is felt must soon be formed. There is still considerable talk of Marshal Henri Petain for the post of premier but he is expected to decline because of his advanced age.

This appeal was launched as France to meet the threat of rapidly advancing Italian and German legions across the Pyrenees speeded thousands of troops to the Franco-Spanish frontier and sent additional warnings to protect her trade routes in Spain.

At the same time, Blum agreed to a British effort to persuade Mussolini to withdraw his troops from Spain.

quarters and in the cabinet itself on the question of issuing a declaration on Czechoslovakia now or later. Indications are the seriousness of the crisis is being exaggerated by the opposition.

Chamberlain was said to be privately concerned with Premier Lord Blum and Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour of France, who have been collecting opposition leaders and are expected to resign their offices.

The opposition movement, however, threatens to force Chamberlain into the open shortly regarding Czechoslovakia at least.

HEAVY BLOW TO THE MERIT SYSTEM

THE merit system, which has suffered so severely under the present administration, received another heavy blow recently when the Senate voted to abolish the Civil Service Commission and install in its stead a single official responsible directly to the president.

This provision of the government reorganization bill is most objectionable on the major counts. By doing away with the bipartisan commission of three members it subjects the system to direct political pressure. It is just the sort of set-up to delight the heart of Postmaster General Farley, who presides over the patronage pie counter, suggests the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Whoever occupies the presidential office will naturally name a member of his own party as civil service administrator. Today a member of the minority party has some part, if a subordinate one, in framing the rules and regulations and any recommendations contained in the annual report to Congress.

The other main objection, which applies also to some other provisions of the administration's bill, is the further centralizing of powers in the executive that should properly be exercised by an independent agency.

Or all the agencies in Washington none should be more carefully safeguarded against political influences than the Civil Service Commission. Samuel H. Ordway, the present minority member, has told Congress of the difficulty now encountered by the commission in resisting political pressure. Under one-man rule, he asserts, the commission might easily become a political football.

Organized labor has declared that a single administrator should not be put in a position to influence the wages and salaries, working hours and conditions of several hundred thousand government employees. During the last five years only one out of four new government workers has been placed under the merit system. Before the New Deal 82 per cent of the federal payroll was under civil service rules. The proportion is now less than 64 per cent. Can the nation afford this latest assault on the merit system under the false label of efficiency?

DESECRATED TUNES

Reverence may survive even in radio. The manager of one of the broadcasting stations has started a campaign to "save from desecration" a dozen songs beloved by the American public as follows:

"Annie Laurie," "Loch Lomond," "Down Through the Rye," "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Jimmie," "Sweet Genevieve," "In the Gloaming," "I Love You Truly," "Brahms' Lullaby," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes" and "The Last Rose of Summer."

They are to be saved specifically from swing bands. The radio engineers have been ordered to "fade out" any bands that take undue liberties with these songs, and substitute other music. "We desire to preserve the songs that Americans have learned to love and cherish in their original form," says the manager.

There are doubtless many other songs that might well be saved from the volunteer improvements of our popular musicians.

EXPERT TESTIMONY REFORM

A bill in the New York legislature, designed to lessen the abuses of expert testimony in criminal trials, deserves consideration. It provides for appointment of expert witnesses, including alienists, by the court, but only by agreement between the prosecution and the defense. While the purely permissive provision prevents a thoroughgoing reform, the procedure, whenever adopted, should serve as a wholesome example.

A Massachusetts law requires appointment of three alienists by the state in murder cases where insanity is the defense, and the admission of their reports as evidence. In states where no such rule prevails juries are frequently confused by the conflict of expert testimony. The spectacle of a jury of laymen endeavoring to diagnose a defendant's mental condition, after listening to diametrically opposite opinions from medical specialists, would be ridiculous if it were not fraught with such wretched consequences.

THREE SCORE AND FIFTEEN

The Battle of Gettysburg, regarded as the turning point in the American Civil War, was fought July 1, 1863. That was 75 years ago this summer. Veterans of that engagement, even if drummer boys at the time, must be in their late 80s or 90s. This summer there is to be a reunion, under federal auspices, of all Civil War veterans on that spot, whether participants in the battle or not. The government will appropriate $275,000 for expenses, of which $200,000 will be used for railroad fare and to provide one attendant for each veteran. The War Department will stage a $75,000 show.

Interest in the Civil War has revived of late. It has become a favorite theme for novelists and poets. There's gold in them thar' rights. Whether octogenarian and nonagenarian ex-soldiers read Mrs. Mitchell and Mr. Allen as a bit doubtful. What would Corporal Smith, aged 96, think of "Gone With the Wind"? Drummer Jones, aged 88, of "Action at Aquila"?

Alas, for radio stations on the Atlantic avenues of Atlanta! Alas, for barbecue stands beneath the apple blossoms of the Shenandoah! Alas, for the too, too, too South, whose most beautiful ladies fell in love with Northerners, or at least with not quite correct Southerners who ran their own blockade and thus became the heroes of impishable literature!

If you read detective stories for "relaxation," you are a great man. If you read them without any alibi, you're a moron.

"All wars start in peace time," says Mr. Lavinoff safely. The thought never occurred to us, but what the gentleman says seems to be true.

The younger element is clamored of a new dance, the chuckaboom, which is described as "whacky" and "full of catnip." Compared with it, we understand, the Big Apple remains a stately minuet.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TROUBLE IN ARITHMETIC

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am writing to ask your help."

"Bob, our son, is in the third grade. He is having trouble in addition. He can do subtraction, multiplication and division, but when it comes to adding columns of figures he is lost. Here is a sample problem: 37, 25, 19, 56, 28 (he has them in columns). When he adds the first column he may call it 25 instead of 35. Maybe in another problem when he is adding 35 and 9 he may call it 24 instead of 44. When he gets to the answer he is ten short, which makes the whole problem wrong. Instead of going forward he goes backward. He knows how it should be, but as I see it he is careless. I have given him problem after problem to work and have helped him."

"He is not a visual student in this subject but must have the numbers down before him, but he thinks he can do them in his head and then gets into heaps of trouble."

"He is a normal, healthy child in all ways. He is sensitive. When I ask him to work problems, he cries and fusses and says he can't work them. He knows all the 100 combinations in both addition and subtraction. I have promised a wanted article if the given problems were worked correctly but I get no results. Would you give him a sound spanking or use other means to get results?"

Do Not Spank

How I answered her: Please do not spank that child for his troubles with arithmetic or any other learning difficulty. Don't even look or breathe as if angry at his errors. Discipline yourself to be calm and patient. Otherwise keep away from him while he tries to learn.

Poor boy! He already is distressed and disgusted with himself. He does not make errors and repeat them just to be ornery. His trouble is not carelessness but emotional confusion.

You have located his specific difficulty. It is in carrying. Gently show him how to do it. Slowly work several samples "thinking aloud" as you do so. Create a quiet, serene atmosphere for that and lead him to feel up to the task.

He feels no urge at all to hurry or fear that he might do wrong or be rebuked for failure. Celebrate his successes and try to restore hope in his heart.

SHE THOUGHT LOVE WAS FUNNY

I KNOW a young lady who used to think love was funny.

Half a dozen years ago she and a friend were playing in a tree in a vacant lot, just climbing around and giggling and being a couple of silly children. And a young man and a young woman passed that way, right under the tree, and the two little girls heard everything they said. And ran home and told their parents all about it.

The young man was doing all the talking. The young woman wasn't saying a thing. She was just walking along. He was pestering something awful. He kept saying, "Why DON'T you love me?" "I don't see WHY you don't love me!" "Tell me WHY you don't love me!"

And the girl, just as they passed, under the tree, stopped to pick a pin from the path and the boy said loudly, as though he were awful mad at her: "Don't pick that up! Answer me. TELL me why you don't love me!"

Then they went on and the little girls didn't hear any more except a "few impudent 'darns' and 'damns'" from the boy, but not a word from the girl.

And it was the FUNNIEST thing. Both the little girls thought so. They agree that it was the most comical joke they'd ever heard—that and that young and desperate young man who kept begging the young lady to tell him why she didn't love him and that silent and proud and stubborn girl who wouldn't say a word. They thought (Continued On Page Five)

HINTS and DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:08; sun rises tomorrow 6:06.

According to Dr. Popowsky, a noted German meteorologist, the earth is swept by sixteen million thunderstorms annually. So if you don't feel you are not getting your share you might complain to Popowsky.

The Chinese invented gunpowder several thousand years ago, and they are just now learning to regret it.

BOTH AT ONCE

"She thinks no man is good enough for her."

"Well, she may be right."

"She may be, but she may be left, too."

This is the time of the year, when the mean temperature really starts to get mean. It is just a cross between good and bad.

Another thing that baffles us is how censors remain pure in heart after viewing the things that would corrupt other people.

Maybe we'd better not guarantee the wicked. If we must do it, more there might be some insurance standing about which one is guaranteed.

"Children are more obedient than adults." But you have to pass fifty before you notice how many people are dying.

HIM AND SHEE RIGHT

Grammarians will try to tell you that it is wrong to say "Him and Shee," but the fact that Him and Shee procured a license to marry in San Francisco is correct, grammarians to the contrary. The reason is that Tom Him and Wone Shee, residents of San Francisco's Chinatown are going to get married, and have secured the legal permission required.

Among the newest inventions is a golf ball, which looks bigger than a tennis ball, and is thus easier to hit. We have played golf with fellows whose condition led them to believe the ball was bigger than it was, and they found it was larger to hit. Now we wonder who's right about this.

Some employers are funny. They want a man over forty, but they won't hire a young doctor or young economist.

Maybe F. D. R. doesn't want a third term, but the rest of the family is going to find life pretty tough without it.

A Maryland truck driver threw a brick through a plate glass store window, stating he was tired of his job and hoped he would get a three year sentence so he could change his kind of work. If Maryland workhouses are anything like the kind they have in Pennsylvania, he is going to be very happy to go back driving a truck when he gets out.

Americanism: Paying the poor who get only $9 a week; spending $9 of our weekly income for necessities and using the rest to buy and maintain a car.

What is a great man, anyway? The ones called a great make plans that turn out wrong, and a nobody can do that.

Pious prophets aren't stoned any more. With so many big shams telling what will happen, nobody remembers which ones guessed wrong.

The English call a mystery novel a "Who-done-it." Suggested title for any book concerning the world's woes: "You Done It."

Don't despise little things. Note the ordinary book and movie titles made famous by sticking a little "Of" in front.

Still, English statesmen trembled just as hard back in 1914 and it didn't prevent war then.

High school students of Birmingham, Mich., prefer checkers to any other form of indoor sports. There must be something radically wrong with the young people in Birmingham.

When we are making money, it's our own fault; when we get hard-up, it's the fault of some other group.

Chicago school authorities think math should be elective. There's no sense in burrowing the minds with arithmetic when the government will soon be doing all the figuring.

"My brother's business moves very slowly."

"What's the reason?"

"Well, you see, numbers are paid by the hour."

Blessed are those who live in little countries. They don't feel obligated to correct nations that aren't living right.

Face saving isn't limited to the Orient. It just seems different here because we call it keeping up with the Joneses.

When the government advances higher prices, it means "We can't squeeze it out of the business man unless he squeezes it out of the public."

Hoover's "Triumphal" Tour. Believed Bidding For Return. Ex-President Has International Mind.

By LESLIE KICHEL, Central Press Columnist

YOU HAVE BEEN reading of Herbert Hoover's travels in Europe. He has made quite an impression abroad—namely, hasn't he?

Hoover is America's best ambassador, men who have known him in the past say.

He has an international mind in many respects. Not that he has an international mind in the nationalistic days is to condemn a man.

President Roosevelt, with all his reforms and progressivism, has a nationalistic mind.

It is true that President Roosevelt has succeeded in being a "good neighbor" with the Latin American countries—something that Herbert Hoover's subcommittee could not possibly achieve—but, all in all, the New Deal is nationalistic, even in one notable respect: reciprocal trade treaties. And that virtually was forced on the New Deal by an extremely persistent man, Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

It is a curious thing that in the one matter in which Herbert Hoover, as president, could have helped to ward off the world of the depression, he became extremely nationalistic and disregarded common sense logic—the tariff. He signed the highest tariff bill on record, because it was Republican and the men who were putting up the money for the Republican party desired it. Nearly everybody was wiped out by it, for it accentuated the collapse of 1929-30.

Herbert Hoover acts best alone. If he had acted in regard to the tariff according to the desires of his international mind, he might be the best presidential possibility the Republicans had today.

Does He Still Hope? Perhaps, Herbert Hoover still believes he is a Republican presidential possibility.

His tour of Europe has made good "propaganda."

His supposed strong assertions to Fuhrer Adolf Hitler that America never would tolerate Nazism was splendid for home effect, and these assertions came at the right time, just before the Fuhrer started the world war. His same strong anti-Nazi may take umbrage that Hoover called on Hitler at all.

Hoover's tour, with exceptions in his honor everywhere as the man who had started millions during wartime and post-war time, must be his method to begin a 1940 campaign for himself. Surely, no other Republican at the moment stands out so strongly.

We hear a Senator Henry Stiles Bridges of New Hampshire and Gen. George Aiken of Vermont intend to check the names and the states to see whether I was correct or not. I doubt whether they would make much of a showing in the vast stretch of Roosevelt country. If in 1938, one of the large states would go Republican, then the fortunate governor could make a name for himself.

Of course, there is Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan. But his present attitude in the Senate have not been striking. He plays the same time out the clock, some of the international leaders are saying.

Wrong Reaction. The Republican leadership in Congress is not playing the game exactly as the G. O. P. leadership at home desires.

It is blocking President Roosevelt on the most popular questions instead of these not so popular.

For example, the Republicans, together with a coalition of conservative Democrats, upset a proposed tax on closed or partly closed businesses, it revoked public works of salaries paid by corporations. Finally restoring a tax above $75,000, a look advance of the TVA family general to try to lighten not only that project, but all other government power projects, it seemed to line up on every angle with Wall Street.

Now, what is the new at hand? Ask any local leader, he will tell you. The mastery of folk at home.

THURSDAY, MARCH 17. On Other March 17th—1781—Major Pierre-Charles L'Enfant, French army officer, began laying out a capital city on the banks of the Potomac in the new District of Columbia. L'Enfant, who was hired to design the city by George Washington, died penniless after his bill for $90,000 had been ignored by the U. S. Government.

40 Years Ago Today—Holland Navy, first submarine of the U. S. Navy, made its first dive, in Long Beach Sound, and remained down one hour 40 minutes. The Confederate Navy had a submarine more than a quarter-century before the Federal Navy.

Holland No. 9's builder, John P. Holland, was a half-blooded Irishman who led a life of adventure, with submarines by a device to tow a mine of explosives, the British navy.

1902 Robert Taylor Jones, Jr., erstwhile champion golfer, was born. Other notable birthdays today: Pierce Butler, b. 1803, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the U. S.; Frank Buck, b. 1894, animal dealer and bird raiser; Stephen S. Wise, b. 1872, nationally famed New York rabbi; Paul Green, b. 1894, dramatist.

1946 Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Eleanor Roosevelt, couple, were married. And 35 years ago today, the U. S. Senate passed the New York marriage law, one year in office.

THEY are a well known hurt and hurt. But I would rather make mistakes. And make my share of pain to bear."

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I have been told that it is a breach of etiquette for me to compliment my hostess on any item of food served at dinner. Is it so very wrong for me to say: "These are delicious home-made biscuits" or "You layer cake is wonderful?"

Answer—It depends upon the circumstances. If you are having dinner at the home of an intimate friend—just you and her family—you may, indeed, compliment her on her food. But if she is having a dinner party consisting of strangers as well as her family refrain from such praise. Even if the hostess is the most delicious you have ever tasted do not mention the fact before the other guests. And when you leave, thank your hostess for a delightful evening, NOT for the dinner.

Dear Miss Markel—Should the man to be seated at the hostess' right take the woman guest of honor in to dinner? READER.

Answer—No. She should be taken in by the host and seated at his right.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader including a self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

Purim Event In Cosmo Clubroom Is Huge Success

Appropriate Address Delivered By Rabbi Norman Diamond; Large Crowd Attends

About 100 Cosmo Club members and their wives assembled in the Cosmo club rooms, 217 North Mercer street, Wednesday evening, for a most delightful Purim celebration.

Featuring the event was a moving picture entitled, "Going Through Europe." The film portrayed the conditions prevalent in European countries today. Rabbi Norman Diamond, of Temple Israel, gave an appropriate address, explaining the significance of Purim.

Purim is a Jewish festival, also called, Feasts of Lots, instituted to commemorate the deliverance of the Jews from the machinations of Haman, but in fact of Babylonian or Persian origin.

The group whiled away the hours playing cards and discussing various topics of interest. Delicious refreshments were served during the course of the occasion. Benjamin Finkel served in the capacity of host.

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

It was very funny indeed; eight years ago they thought LOVE WAS FUNNY.

Well, love WAS funny to two little girls playing in a tree. It's funny in a blither sort of way to cyclists who have loved and lost the joy in life. It's funny to seepies. It's funny to those who have never known love and to some who will never know it again. But I'm sure it's not funny now to the young lady who was that small child. A little girl becomes an older girl and what was funny once becomes a serious matter indeed. The years fly fast and soon she's a woman and she turns white and red when some ordinary lad walks down the street and whistles outside and rings the doorbell and asks for her. And the heartless child who laughed at the pleading youth, becomes a crumple of emotion who knows that love may be agony and ecstasy and grief and blessing and everything else but COMEDY. Life takes its sweet revenge on the child and she changes her mind about love. And it serves her right!

Youth Is Hurt; Falls Off Bike

Jack Ridenbaugh, aged 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ridenbaugh, of 201 North Ray street, was badly bruised about the body and suffered facial cuts Wednesday afternoon about 5 o'clock when he fell off the bicycle he was riding. The mishap occurred on County Line St.

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

The Clutton Drug Store will give $1.00 worth of medicine to each family in response to this ad.

WE WANT every family to have a bottle of this grand old Indian Herb medicine.

To prove the value of this wonderful pleasant tasting product of Nature, your Druggists have agreed with our Laboratory to make you this liberal offer.

In the treatment of Stomach, Gall bladder, Liver and Kidney troubles you will be delighted with its mild thorough results. Within eight hours it will usually drive poisons from the body that are black as ink. Rheumatic and Neuritis pains and aches will as a rule start to disappear the second or third day.

Swelling and stiffness usually requires eight to ten doses. However, Bloating, Indigestion and Gas in the stomach are usually relieved with but one dose. Regulation of the Bowels is most important and you can actually depend on full and free elimination within eight to ten hours after taking the first dose.

This special offer is good Friday and Saturday as well as all next week, or until our present stock is exhausted. Each person will be limited to three bottles as we want this special offer to benefit as many families as possible.

You will receive the large $1.50 family sized (3 weeks treatment) for only 49c. The saving of $1.01 to you is made possible by the co-operation of your Druggists with our Laboratory and is good only while this present stock lasts. Sequoia Indian Herb is sold to you on an absolute money back guarantee. If you are not entirely satisfied with results, your purchase price will be refunded. Mail orders 10c extra.

German-American Bund Meets Strong Legion Opposition

Fund Is Agency Of Alien Government Declares Legion In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, March 17.—The German-American Bund met last night at the Hotel Hamilton in Pittsburgh, Pa., to discuss the results of the recent election in the city of Pittsburgh. The Bund, a pro-Nazi organization, was opposed by the American Legion, which declared the Bund to be an agency of the alien German government.

The Bund's speaker, a man named [Name], declared that the Bund was not a pro-Nazi organization, but a pro-American organization. He said that the Bund was a "patriotic" organization, and that it was "pro-American" because it was "pro-German."

The American Legion, on the other hand, declared that the Bund was a "pro-Nazi" organization, and that it was "anti-American" because it was "anti-German." The Legion said that the Bund was a "patriotic" organization, and that it was "pro-American" because it was "pro-German."

Armory Work Is Progressing

Stone Work On Big East Side Structure Is About Completed

ROOF OVER RIDING HALL TO BE ERECTED

Work is progressing steadily on the Captain Cunningham Armory of the Y. W. C. A. located on Frank Avenue near Cascade Park.

The stone work is completed with the exception of the setting of some of the capstones in place.

The plumbers and steam fitters are busy installing the plumbing and heat radiation. It is expected that the heating system will be ready for use next Thursday or Friday.

Plasterers are putting on the first coat. The arch beams will soon be put in place to receive the roof over the riding hall, which will thus be devoid of any pillars.

There are four steel canopy doors weighing 1500 pounds each to be placed in the building. The doors will be 16 by 16 feet and have 40 small panes of glass in the upper part of each door. Two of these will be in the riding hall and two in the stables. The windows in the building are "detention" type, the frames of which are of high carbon steel and almost impossible to cut with a back saw.

The door between the furnace room and the dining room works automatically. Should the door be open and the furnace room become overheated, a fuse is set off, and the door automatically closes, thus protecting the balance of the building.

A party going through the Armory recently stated that this would be the most up-to-date building of its kind in the state.

FALSE ALARM

Firemen were called to the intersection of Allen and East Washington street at 11:45 Wednesday evening by an alarm from box 45. On arriving at the scene they were unable to discover any fire in the vicinity.

This Is Where Your Y. W. C. A. Dollar Goes

"What does the Y. W. C. A. do with my Membership Dollar?" is a question whose answer every Y. member who is interested in her association should know.

The Y. W. C. A. fiscal year corresponds to the Community Chest year, beginning November 1 and ending November 1. The financial report for November 1, 1936 to November 1, 1937, is as follows:

Income
Balance, Nov. 1, 1936 $ 461
Program Departments 394.69
Housing 1,964.31
Building 4,412.87
Memberships 1,277.50
Endowment 798.48
Miscellaneous 273.84

Community Chest 9,121.60
Total Income $15,214.80

Expenditures
1. Program departments—
Bus. & Ind. Girls $ 560.15
Girl Reserves 584.73
Elm St. Branch 1,935.92
International Inst. 1,458.95
Educational Classes 169.49
2. Housing 1,832.29

3. Building 4,658.87
4. Administration 4,076.34
Totals Expenditures $15,214.80
Bal. on hand Nov. 1, 1937 1.15

Those expenditures cover salaries for four program secretaries, who work with 4000 women and girls. Housing and building upkeep are nearly balanced by dormitory and building receipts. The camp is entirely self supporting. By and large, membership dues supplement the amount contributed by the Community Chest for program purposes. Aside from the financial help of membership dues there would be no Y. W. C. A. without members, just as there would be no church, without members.

The Y. W. C. A. made up of Christian members, is the church at work among women and girls. With its building open every day of the year it can serve thousands of girls through clubs and classes, its employment bureau and housing and its opportunity for women of every denomination to work together to build a Christian democracy.

Merrill Winner Of Harmon Trophy

Man Who Flew To London
And Back Last May Gets Coveted Aviation Award

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—Henry T. "Dick" Merrill took his place today alongside Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the late Wiley Post and Howard R. Hughes as the fourth American to win the prized Harmon trophy, awarded annually by the Ligue Internationale Des Aviateurs, to the individual making the most notable contribution to aviation in the past year.

Merrill received the award from President Roosevelt at a White House ceremony in recognition of his successful round-trip flight between New York and London last May. Present also was his copilot, Jack Lambie, on that trail-blazing commercial venture.

This was the second successive year the United States has captured the coveted international award. Hughes, well known sportsman pilot, was selected for the honor last year for his amazing speed records.

Need Good Music For Rounded Life

Intangibles Of Life Necessary
To Complete Happiness
Of Man

Material things are necessary to the sustaining of life but man's need goes beyond the material things. The intangibles are vital to human happiness. Beautiful pictures, good literature and music cannot be classed in the list of those things necessary to the actual sustaining of life but they do add immeasurably to the thing we call happiness.

One need not be educated to enjoy good music. One need not be rich or famous for good music is for all the people regardless of degree or social standing.

In order to provide good music for the people of New Castle the Civic Music Association has been conducting a campaign for membership this week. From the proceeds of the campaign will come fine singers, instrumental musicians, orchestras, ballets depending upon the whim of the members.

The campaign is proceeding in a satisfactory manner but with several additional members to those of last season it will be possible to bring to New Castle the finest things available today in the music world.

The membership fee is $5 but for that $5 members get returns many times greater than the actual money expended.

Admission to the bar seems to be getting tougher every year. There was a time when a young man who wanted to study law went to high school and then went into a law office and studied with a practicing attorney. Later he was admitted by a committee of the bar association.

Then it became necessary to get a certain amount of resident instruction in a law school. Then an academic degree was required before law. In the past two years it has been necessary for any student with a degree from a college to register with the State Board of Law Examiners in which he says he is going to attend a law school. He must deposit a fee of $35 to show good faith or something and then he enters. After he finishes his law course the chances are nearly even that he may not pass the state bar examination.

Examinations for admission to the bar will be held on July 28-29, according to a bulletin in the law library. Several young men of this county will take the examination at that time.

In the office of Prothonotary and

Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar, the following action has been laid: Wyatt R. Campbell filed an action in assumpsit to recover $496.65 from Sarah A. Potter, executrix in the estate of Wallace C. Potter.

Voters who have not registered have one month in which to qualify themselves for the spring primary on May 17. April 16 is the last day to register and in this is included persons who become of age on or before May 18. According to the law a minor becomes of age on the day preceding the anniversary of his birth. In other words if you are 21 on May 18 you can vote on May 17.

Higher Water Would Help Those Riding On Raft Toward Capital

(Associated Press Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa., March 17.—"Higher" raftmen downed today by the flood, as Pennsylvania's steadily rising water, and off the river, the raftmen of a raft, en route to Harrisburg, were 24 miles behind schedule.

It was a weary and somewhat "tired" group that had up the 112-foot raft near late yesterday afternoon after one of the most exciting and hazardous days since the historic rafting run was started from Harrisburg.

Near Clearfield, the raft and passengers on the "Harrisburg" raft, the trip to the capital, the raftmen had been met by a group of about 4,000 persons who had watched the raft push off from Clearfield.

When the raft left Clearfield yesterday, the passenger list was cut to 22 because of the drop in the river stage and the accompanying hazards of the water route. More than 4,000 persons had watched the raft push off from Clearfield.

Revise Plans
Lock Haven's Chamber of Commerce, which had been planning for the raftmen in order that they might be in with the arrival of the historic raft, it is hoped to get into Lock Haven by tomorrow night.

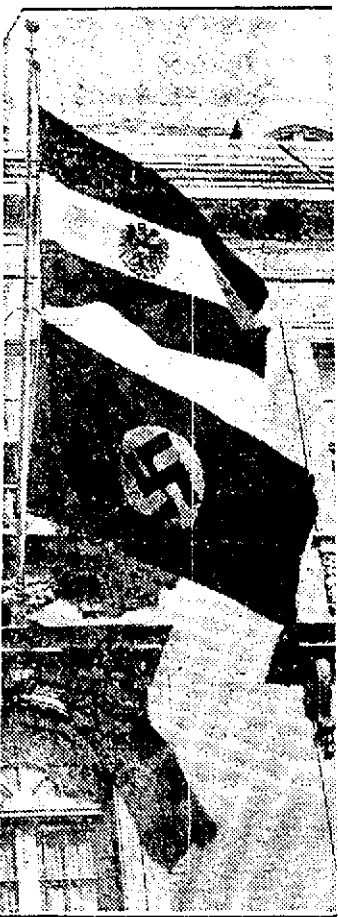

The raft run, sponsored by Tomlin and his brother, members of a well-known lumber family, is being made for the benefit of motion picture cameramen so that the Keystone State's historic rafting days might be preserved for posterity.

A Harrisburg, where the raft will be finally tied up, the box will be carried into the city by the D. B. Boatsmen's Company of Harrisburg.

Farmhand Says He Killed Paul M. Chaplin, 35, And Mrs. Grace Spear, 40

(International News Service)

EAST MONTPELIER, Vt., March 17.—Percy McLeod, 35-year-old farmhand, confessed today, according to Sheriff Henry C. Lawson, to murdering Paul M. Chaplin, 35, Medford, Mass., and Mrs. Grace Spear, 40, Williston, at a lonely maple sugar farm here.

"I only intended to kill Chaplin," McLeod said, according to Sheriff Lawson. "I killed Mrs. Spear because she grabbed hold of a rifle after I shot him with a .25 calibre pistol and I knew she would try to shoot me."

"I shot Chaplin because he was twisting me about being a night watchman. They both started to kill me yesterday so I decided to kill him. They gave me a dollar yesterday and I went and bought some liquor."

McLeod was arrested at a farm near the Spear farmhouse after he had told of the killings.

Mrs. S. E. McCleary Ninety Four Years On Friday, March 18

Only Real Daughter Of 1812 To Observe 94th Birthday Quietly At Home

Mrs. S. E. McCleary, one of New Castle's pioneer residents, who is held in high regard by all who know her, will celebrate her ninety-fourth birthday anniversary on Friday, March 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown, Highland avenue, with whom she resides.

Mrs. McCleary is in her usual health and is able to get around quite well considering her advanced years. She can hear clearly over the telephone and she attends the First Presbyterian church when she is able. She is an active member in her church, being a deaconess, and is also a member of the Woman's Missionary society.

In addition to being a member of the W. C. T. U., and having had the distinction of serving as a W. C. T. U. state officer for twenty-five years, she is the only real daughter of the Daughters of 1812, of which the organization is most proud. Already this morning, Mrs. McCleary was greeted with a lovely potted plant from the Daughters of 1812 to remind her, they too, were thinking of her approaching birthday anniversary. Before noon today, Mrs. McCleary had received over sixty cards bearing cheerful greetings of congratulations on such a memorable occasion as tomorrow will bring.

Also, she is a member of the Mary English Bible class. When the weather permits, Mrs. McCleary goes to all functions, her transportation being provided at all times by the graciousness of the H. M. Kirk family.

She was born in an old fashioned house of considerable size, on a farm in Butler county. When she was ten years old, her father moved their family to what is now known as Harrisburg so the children would be privileged to attend private school under Prof. D. McLean.

Due to her not being able to stand too much excitement, Mrs. McCleary will spend the day quietly. Her son, T. McCleary and family, of Bradock, will be unable to be here due to the serious illness of Mrs. T. McCleary. However, they have already remembered her with a beautiful letter, in which grandchildren are included.

On Wednesday of next week, she will move with Mr. and Mrs. William Brown to their new residence at 301 Boyles avenue.

Last Case Of Court Term Is Now With Jury

At noon today the jury trying the case against Rudy Ginocchi charged with setting up a lottery and conspiracy, was still in the jury room deliberating. The jury took the case shortly after the opening of court this morning.

In the case of Hozie Cooper, charged with larceny, a verdict of guilty was returned late Wednesday afternoon. All jurors except the 12 on the Ginocchi case were paid Wednesday night and excused from further service. The jurors called for next week are being notified no court will be held.

There is a wide diversity in suits this season, so don't be satisfied unless you find just the suit that suits you.

Wysner Is Placed On Pension List

Council met today in City Hall and concurred in the action of the pension board recently that James Wysner, patrolman, on compensation, should be placed on the pension list.

Wysner was injured when he fell in 1934, and has been on compensation. He is 79. He will receive a pension of $66.83 monthly, according to council's action.

Johnston Makes Complaint Today

Frank H. Johnston, Wilson, avenue, today appeared before council in City Hall, where he complained against substances in city water which he stated caused pipes to clog.

He advocated letting water out of the fire hydrants to provide fresh water all the time, and said the city should have an analysis made.

Councilman J. M. Rice said the water here is tested once weekly by the health officer, twice a day by water company chemists and at various times by state health officials. Rice claimed the substance in a pipe produced by Johnston was an iron deposit. Rice said the water here is good.

Johnston said he found the alleged condition when he had to replace his residence.

What is now known as smoking was once called drinking tobacco. This term was in common use until the middle of the seventeenth century, and probably originated from the custom of inhaling the smoke and exhaling it through the nose.

Liberty Grange

GRANGE MEETING

The regular meeting of Liberty Grange was held on Tuesday evening, March 15, in their hall. During the lecture hour Prof. Wiggins, master of Westfield Grange, gave an interesting talk on "The Future of America."

April 5 is the date set for the next meeting at which time the Home Economics committee will have charge of the program. The program will be as follows:

"The Milling of Flour in the Past and Present"—S. A. Locke.
"Planning Your Work"—Mrs. Anna McCracken.
Recitation—Harold Johnson.
First Aid talk—Ralph Rainey.
Playlet in charge of Mrs. Margaret Tucker.

Question Bee—Mrs. Roy Harlan.
Music—Harry Sechler.
Music—Roy Harlan.
Each woman is to take a cake to the meeting, half of which is to be used as refreshments and half to be auctioned. Russell Book will be the auctioneer.

SHOWER

Young people of the community gathered at the S. A. Locke home on Friday evening to tender a shower to Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Emery, nee Wylda Locke, a bride and groom of recent date.

A number of lovely gifts were received by the honored couple. At the close of the evening a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Ernest Brooks, Mrs. Howard McCracken and Jean McCracken.

TO PRESENT PLAY

Students of the Harlansburg high school will present a play, "The Peter's Sake," on Thursday and Friday evenings, March 17 and 18, at the Liberty Grange hall.

Y. T. C. MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Harlansburg Y. T. C. was held at the home of Dorothy Johnston. The April meeting will be at the home of Dorothea McKissick.

LIBERTY GRANGE NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Rainey spent Saturday in Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh Flood Anniversary Brings Attention To Situation

Some Progress In Prevention

Super Flood Could Be Cut Down 8 Feet By Program Being Developed

SERIES OF TEN DAMS INCLUDED

By ALLAN J. FUNCH

International News Service Staff

PITTSBURGH, March 17.—

Today, on the second anniversary of the greatest flood ever to inundate the Pittsburgh area, comes the news that it could happen again—that Western Pennsylvania is not entirely protected from the so-called super floods although the possible damage has been sharply reduced.

Despite all the planning and the work of the engineers during the last two years, the most the flood control project will ever be able to care for, will be eight extra feet of water at the Pittsburgh level during a super flood, according to the U. S. engineers. But they are quite important.

Would Cut Level 8 Feet

From the officers of the United States engineers in a review of the Flood Control Act of 1936 and the accomplishments and plans of the engineers comes the statement:

"Had this system been in operation during the 1936 flood the stage at Pittsburgh 146 feet would have been decreased by eight feet."

While this system is designed to entirely eliminate ordinary to intermediate floods, it does not offer a complete solution to flood problems in that the so-called super floods will not be entirely controlled. For the complete elimination of these floods it would be necessary to supplement the present approved reservoir system. Such supplementation could consist of additional reservoirs or flood walls, or both."

Greatest Damage

Lieutenant Colonel William E. R. Codd, in charge of the Pittsburgh district army engineers, explained that the greatest part of the damage caused by the St. Patrick's Day flood of 1936 was caused by the last eight feet of rise in the rivers.

"If the flood control project had been able to cut off even one foot of water during that flood," he said, "we could have saved approximately $17,000,000."

He added that the flood stage at the "Point" is 25 feet and that when one takes 25 feet from the 46 feet, leaving 21 feet of actual flood, the eight feet make a difference of more than a third of the total.

"Knocking one-third off the flood would have reduced the damages it did by more than three-quarters," he maintained.

"Of course, a 38-foot flood is pretty serious nevertheless," Colonel Codd admitted. "It will do thousands of dollars worth of damage."

Flood Of Kind Once In 150 Years

"But we only have a flood of the proportions of the 1936 flood once in about every 150 years."

The Flood Control Act of 1936, passed by congress only a month after the disaster, provides for the construction of a system of nine dams in the Western Pennsylvania watershed, with a tenth dam located above Grady, W. Va.

Under the present plans the dams will be operated as a coordinated system and in general the reservoirs will be held nearly empty.

The nine dams of the project, together with the Tygart Dam, according to the engineers, will control, or in effect cut off approximately 45 per cent of the drainage of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers.

However, in the case of a super flood it would be impossible for the dams and reservoirs to keep back more than eight feet of water from the Pittsburgh stage and in case of another super-flood the river levels will once again reach above the 35 foot mark, if not higher.

Since 1853 Western Pennsylvania has suffered no less than 97 floods, 26 of which have been of major proportions.

Farmers Of State Borrow Big Sum

At Start Of Year Total Of $31,960,000 Owed To Farm Credit Corporation

By ARTHUR C. WIMER

(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 17.

Pennsylvania farmers on January 1 this year owed the Farm Credit Corporation a total of $31,960,000 in loans.

This aggregate, according to agencies advancing the loans, was broken down as follows: Federal land banks, $20,637,000; land bank commissioner, $8,549,000; federal intermediate credit banks, $2,582,000; production credit associations, $2,436,000; district banks for cooperatives, $333,000.

The total of such outstanding loans was greater in 28 states and smaller in 19 states than in Pennsylvania. Such loans totaled $66,840,000 in Ohio, $12,208,000 in West Virginia, and $57,402,000 in New York.

Under the present plans the dams will be operated as a coordinated system and in general the reservoirs will be held nearly empty.

Remove Austrian Flag From Washington Legation

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Germany on Wednesday sealed the archives and secret papers of the Austrian legation here, incorporated its staff into the German embassy, and asked the state department to extend customary diplomatic extraterritorial status to the Austrian property.

German Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff advised Secretary of State Hull in a brief note that the former Austrian legation had been taken over by his embassy and that Edgar L. G. Prochuk, formerly Austrian minister, was now a member of the German embassy staff.

He also made the request for diplomatic protection of the building in which Austria has had its legation.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the Austrian flag which flew along with the German flag above the Austrian legation was lowered and only the German swastika waved in the wind.

Austria Fades

Thus every semblance of Austrian independence was dissipated diplomatically, insofar as physical properties in Washington were concerned.

At the embassy, it was announced that Prochuk's rank on the German embassy staff has not been determined, but that he will stay on at least for the present.

These announcements made no change in the government's formal attitude toward Germany's Austrian conquest. Secretary of State Hull at his regular press conference announced this government is still studying the situation and will not adopt a specific policy until developments have entirely clarified the situation.

In this latter connection, Hull pointed out that Austrian customs laws, under which American goods going into that country are given equal treatment with all others, have been unchanged. Therefore, he explained, the present attitude, at least, this government will continue to extend most-favored-nation benefits to the country that was Austria.

Plan Funeral For R. C. Stiefel

Expect Funeral Party To Arrive In Ellwood City Friday Evening

ELLWOOD MOURNS LEADER'S PASSING

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—Funeral arrangements for R. C. Stiefel, 76, of Ellwood City, who died at his home in St. Petersburg, Fla., on Tuesday evening, will be held here on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The body, accompanied by Mrs. Stiefel and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Stiefel, Jr., of Fourth street, will arrive in this city on Friday evening at 10 o'clock.

All Ellwood City mourns today the passing of the man who was directly responsible for the growth of the town and the definite place it holds in the steel world. Mr. Stiefel, widely known as the inventor of the seamless tube and a great mechanical engineer, came to this city shortly after its inception in the early '90s and since that time has had a foremost part in the town's development.

He established the Shelby Steel Tube company's plant as the largest in the world manufacturing seamless tubes which was later sold to the U. S. Steel corporation and since that time has been known as the Ellwood Works of the National Tube company.

The Standard Engineering company was founded by Mr. Stiefel and after its merger with the Acme Engineering company of Warren, O., he remained a consulting engineer and a director of the company, until recently.

While he could have become a prominent figure in the steel, engineering and social world, he remained quiet and unassuming and has been the constant friend of the steel industry and the laborer alike. His memory will long be cherished in the minds of thousands of people and especially to hundreds of older folks, who were given their first chance at success through the kindness of the man who believed in Ellwood City when it was nothing more than a scattered village and has been the town's outstanding citizen for nearly a half-century.

Born in Zurich, Switzerland, he was graduated from the University of that city. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Stiefel, one son, R. C. Stiefel, Jr., president of the People's National Bank of Ellwood City, and one daughter, Mrs. Bernard Beckowiczky, of Davis, France, and New York, who arrived in this city last evening.

Bartle-Myers Marriage News

Announcement Made Of Miss Marie Bartle To Walter Myers

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—A wedding of much interest to many local folks is being announced today and as that of Miss Marie Bartle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bartle, of 600 First avenue, to Walter Myers of this city, son of W. G. Myers of Pittsburgh.

The marriage was performed on February 7, 1938, at Wellsburg, W. Va., with Rev. Rudolph of a Wellsburg church as the officiating minister.

Mrs. Myers, who has many friends in this city, graduated from the local high school with the January class of '37 and for the past several months has been employed by the Albert Drug store on Lawrence avenue. The bridegroom attended a Pittsburgh school and has been employed by the Actina Standard company of this city.

They are residing at the Bartle home for the present.

Fine Meeting Held By Grange

Various Activities Of Interest Announced For Coming Weeks

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—A large number of members of the North Sewickley township grange gathered on Tuesday evening at their hall on the Ellwood-New Brighton road for their semi-monthly meeting.

A special meeting for members and friends was planned for Friday evening, March 18, at the hall and on the following Friday night, March 25, the Sharon grange of Allegheny county will present a play entitled "Here Comes Charlie".

It was announced that on Sunday evening the May-Wilson sisters of Youngstown, O., will present a special musical program at the Providence Baptist church in North Sewickley.

James Hale of Akron, O., was the speaker of the evening and he explained in detail and showed graphic pictures of the rubber making industry. At the close of the evening refreshments provided by the grange company of this city were served by the supper committee.

On Tuesday evening, April 5, the next meeting will be held.

Toth Funeral Held Wednesday

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—From the St. Joseph's Catholic church of Ellport, funeral services were held on Wednesday morning for Mrs. Helen Toth, whose death occurred Sunday morning in the local hospital after a several weeks illness.

The services were largely attended, many relatives coming from a distance. Many floral tributes evidenced the affection of which she was held.

Interment was made in the St. Acaha cemetery.

Little Bits Of This And That About Ellwood

Wednesday's ideal spring weather stirred the gardening urge in many people who were noted planting grass seed and rolling lawns. The steady rains of Sunday and Monday makes the ground in splendid shape for rolling.

An overflow crowd filled the First Methodist church on Tuesday night to witness the motion picture "The Life of Christ," from the National to the Ascension. The picture was presented by the national bureau for religious and educational films and was greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

During the month of January, the total births at the local hospital revealed that the boys, numbering 10, are still maintaining their lead; however the girls are not far behind with a total of 7.

The count of the popular banners who say "all great people were born in February" will be increased by 18, with 10 votes going to the boys and 8 to the girls.

Sons and daughters of Erin, who since the fifth century have honored St. Patrick by wearing of the green and paying allegiance to the land where the shamrocks grow, are in their prime today. The only special celebration that has been planned is a St. Patrick's Day dance tonight at the Elks club.

Ellwood people are rejoicing that local boys studying for the priesthood at St. Fidelis seminary, near Butler, destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning, are safe. The boys are Joseph Helling, Thomas McGraw, William Grant and Robert Crowley.

Party Honors Billy Boots

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—Honoring the occasion of the seventh birthday anniversary of her son Billy, Mrs. Jacob Boots entertained a group of his little schoolmates at their home on the Ellwood-Zenith road on Wednesday afternoon after school at a birthday party.

Games and contests of a variety kept the hours merry for the little guests and to make the affair complete "party" refreshments were served by Mrs. Boots.

The guest of honor received an array of very nice and useful gifts as remembrances of the happy occasion.

Frances G. Edwards Weds Paul Houston

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—Announcement of a wedding of interest to many local people has been received here and that of Miss Frances G. Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Edwards, of College Hill, to James Paul Houston, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Houston, of East Liverpool, O.

The wedding was an event of last Friday and took place at the bride's home with Rev. R. P. Liston, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of College Hill, reading the marriage service at 7:45 p. m.

Her sister, Miss Jane Edwards, acted as maid of honor and Joseph Houston, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston are residing in College Hill.

Four Guests At Lillyville Meet

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—On Wednesday, members of the Women's Missionary society of the St. Mark's Lutheran church of Lillyville gathered at the home of Mrs. Melissa Daufen, of near Oella, for their March meeting.

Mrs. Harry Daufen, Mrs. John Bowers, Mrs. Herbert Daufen and Mrs. Jesse Daufen were guests.

At noon, a group partook of an appetizing luncheon dinner served by Mrs. Earla Honnifer and Mrs. Herbert Daufen.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Edward McKenna, who is a patient in the Beaver Valley General hospital, Mrs. Fred Klages had charge of the business meeting and the study period was led by Rev. William Mitchell.

For the next meeting on Wednesday, April 20, the members will again be entertained at the Daufen home.

Phalanx Plans Party On Friday

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—Alpha chapter of Ellwood City Phalanx held their weekly meeting in their lodge rooms of Lawrence avenue on Wednesday. Plans were made for a private party to be held by the organization on Friday, March 18.

The meeting was then turned over to Mr. Weisman, the district secretary of Young Men's Christian organization. He and the group made final plans for the young men's conference to be held April 2 and 3 in this city.

The organization at this time voted Allen Gross in as a member. The meeting was then adjourned.

Charles F. Kramer Dies This Morning

Funeral Services To Be Held Sunday Afternoon From Home At North Sewickley

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—After an illness of nearly one year, Charles Frederick W. Kramer, aged 65 years, passed away early this morning at his home in North Sewickley. His death was caused by complications that followed a paralytic stroke suffered about ten months ago.

Born in Pittsburgh, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kramer, he would have celebrated his 66th birthday if he had lived until Monday.

For the past 19 years, he has resided in this city, and for 15 years had conducted a poultry farm. He is well known throughout this district and has a great many friends.

He was a member of the East Chicago Ind. Masonic order, the Ellwood City Elks lodge and a former member of the I. O. O. F. lodge.

His wife, Elizabeth Delia Kramer, preceded him in death five years ago. He is survived by three sons, Charles N., of North Sewickley, Floyd E. of Knox, and Raymond H. of Plant City, Fla., and five grandchildren. Five brothers and one sister also survive.

Funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home. Interment will be made in the North Sewickley cemetery.

Public Library To Aid Contest

Essay Writing Contest To Draw Large Number Of Ellwood Entries

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—A special shelf has been reserved in the Public Library for the use of the students who are writing an essay for the National Insurance Essay contest. Several books dealing with the various subjects of insurance and a large selection of pamphlets and printed materials have been collected already and others will be added.

This life insurance essay contest proved very popular with the local junior and senior high school students last year, partly because the $30 that was given as prizes by the local agents but in addition to this two local winners won prizes of $5 each in the Pittsburgh contest.

This year the local life insurance agents are offering four prizes totaling $30 again and the Ellwood City contest will be judged by local judges and the prizes awarded and then each of the essays will be forwarded to the Pittsburgh association to be judged there before they are based on in New York for the national contest.

In Pittsburgh this year they are offering thirteen prizes totaling $250. The contest is open to any boy or girl in the junior or senior high school under twenty years of age. The essay must not exceed 300 words and must be turned in to the judges on March 21. Any boy or girl who cares to enter the contest will find valuable help at the public library and in addition to this any consultant, any life insurance agent or school teacher.

Mrs. Anna Mains Has Booster Club

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—Mrs. Anna Mains entertained members of the Booster club of the Park Gate Baptist church in a hospitable home on Wednesday at her home in South Ellwood Heights.

Pancake provided the diversion of the day with a tempting luncheon being enjoyed at noon. A business and devotional period was presided by Mrs. John Wright, the president.

On Wednesday, March 30, Mrs. F. C. Cunningham will entertain at her home in Wampum.

Shelby Socials Top Collegians

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—With Carey leading with twelve points the Gersons of New Castle topped the Ex-High Stars 38 to 35 in a close game last night at Shelby court. In the second game, the Shelby Socials defeated the Geneva Collegians 50 to 40.

Barnes and Bianco were high for the Ex-High Stars; Waldo and Carey for the Gersons; A. Robuck, Soleda, and Russell, Johnson and Winters for the Collegians.

The Cold Draw and the Mechanical were scheduled to wind up the Shelby league but as the championship had already been decided by mutual consent, the game was called off and a team comprised of various mill players met the Gersons.

City-County Floor Tourney Opens Tonight

TWO GAMES WILL USHER IN EVENT

Princeton Will Meet Universal A. A. In First Game; Gersons-Mahonings Follow

Sixteen Teams Will Vie For Title, Croton School Band Will Play

New Castle's first big City-County basketball tournament is about to start. Tonight is the opening of the tourney, that finds sixteen teams from all parts of Lawrence county and the city awaiting the going to launch the championship title race.

Two games will be played tonight at Washington high. The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock, and will send the Universal A. A. against the Princeton Independents.

In the second game the Mahonings A. A. meets the Gersons.

An effort is being made to have Mayor Charles McGrath preside over the tourney. It is also thought possible that the Croton band will be on hand to furnish up the occasion with a few musical notes.

The entire proceeds of the tourney will go to the Croton band uniform fund. It is hoped that several hundred dollars can be realized.

Comm. Is Pleased.

General Chairman A. R. "Tony" Conn is more than pleased with the results of the tourney so far and of the spirit and willingness of his committee to work the tourney into the fine shape that it is in at the opening going.

It has taken quite a bit of work to get the affair under way and without the help of his committee Conn says that he could not have brought the tourney to its place in the sun.

There is going to be keen competition in the tourney. The line-ups of many of the teams are dotted with star former high school players.

There is a lot of friendly but keen rivalry among the various teams. They will fight hard to win the tourney and carry off the handsome prizes.

Favorites May Fall.

Of course the pre-tourney favorites are the Polish Falcons under Coach Henry Koszala and the Keystone A. C. under Coach Andy Venduto. But there are several teams that figure to upset the apple-carts of these two line teams.

The Falcons drew a tough assignment for Friday night in the Shelby Tube Mill All-Stars. This team is composed of the cream of the crop in Ellwood City. They will be hard to beat.

Gives Legion Shock.

The Gersons will present a lineup that needs little introduction. Heading the list of well known names will be that veteran Francis "Slim" Wainio, former New Castle high and Pitt star. Also, Chinkie Dittlin, Johnny Carr and Eddie "Bus" Strausbaugh of the New Castle high team that went to the state finals at Harrisburg two years ago.

Tom Carey of this year's team and of course Strausbaugh played this year also. Harry Hoedig and Elmer Laitinen, former Shenandoah stars, and Fuzzy Neyman and Alec Parson will know floor figures, also Walter Deeth, who is a fine guard, and who looks after the business end of the team. The coach of the Gersons is Mike Kulich, former high star.

Expect Big Crowd.

The Mahonings A. A. team will not have such widely known stars but Coach Skip Russo is confident that his Seventh Warders will give the Gersons Jewellers a lot of uncomfortable moments before the game is ended.

The Mahonings have had a successful year and are "dark-horses" in the present tourney along with the Gersons.

The event of good weather tonight the Washington court should be well filled for the tourney battles. The admission is eight—only 25 cents per night for all the games, 10 cents for kiddies. A ticket good for all of the tourney games will sell for 50 cents and may be bought at the gate.

Following are the probable line-ups:

Princeton.....Universal A. A.
Gersons.....Mahonings A. A.
Croton.....Shelby Tube Mill
Croton.....Shelby Tube Mill

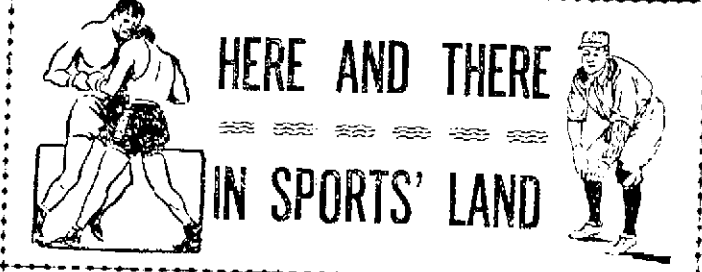

Starting time of first game—7:30 o'clock.

Mayor Charles McGrath stated emphatically today that he would be present at the Washington high gym floor tonight at 8:30 o'clock, to give a short talk over the public address system and to throw the first ball.

The Croton band, for whose benefit the tourney is being held, will also be on hand to give a few snappy tunes. They will be under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Patch and Principal Hofmeister.

RESERVES WILL ENTER TOURNEY

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

George Chip, former heavyweight champion of the world handed out some nice bonnets to opponents of yesterday when the writer and he discussed some of his fights over a couple of bowls of java yesterday.

He said that boxers like Mike Gibbons, Jimmy Clabby, Jack Dillon, Eddie McGorty, Jeff Smith and Leo Houck knew all the answers and despite his reputation as a puncher none of them ran away from him.

"Follows like Gibbons, Clabby, McGorty, Smith and Houck knew every trick of the game," I didn't have to go after them. They came to me halfway and just when I would not set to explode a punch they would shoot a glove and many times force me off balance and I would have to get in position to hit again.

"Take Dillon for instance," said Chip. "Jack and I fought 15 times. I never had to go looking for Dillon in the ring and in my estimation he was one of the greatest aggressive and at the same time, defensive fighters in the world. He was hard to hit. However, despite his being called 'Jack,' the Giant Killer, he wasn't a great puncher, the former middleweight champion said.

Asked if he ever gave thought that one of his punches might injure an opponent Chip said he never allowed such a thought in his head. "All I ever thought about was to win a knockout as quickly as I could. In fact, I would prefer to throw an opponent instead of doing out a beating that would cause an opponent to suffer."

"In your fighting days which was your favorite punch?" the former champion was asked. George assumed a fighting position, worked his way close then let a short left go to the solar plexus, stepped back quickly and then sent another left to the chin. These were what I liked best to deliver," said George.

He recalled a couple of tough fights, he went to Los Angeles and took on Sailor Ed Petrosky. Remember the sailor was tough and the final blow for middleweights. Up to the time I fought him no one ever had knocked him out. I turned the trick. We met again in a 20-round go at San Francisco and what a fight!

"The night was on Petrosky to go the limit and my, how I tried to show him away. I couldn't. He made up his mind to hear the last song and he did," said George after which he recalled his fights with Sailor Grande, here and at Bridgeport. When Grande fought here the fight went 10 rounds.

"They matched us for a 15-round fight at Bridgeport and when he met me at weight in time Grande declared: 'I'll make you jump out through the ropes tonight!' Chip said he replied: 'O. K. Salter will be tonight!' After a brilliant fight, Chip knocked out Grande in the fifteenth round which was the last round.

After leaving Chip the writer met Harry Jagen. Years ago Harry dined with the boxing players and he could be heard to follow that vocation could have earned a neat sum of money and little prestige. He often boxed with Jimmie Dunn when the latter was a fighter and sparred with George Gunther. Those familiar with both realize they had plenty of stuff which they could impart to a youngster. While serving overseas, Harry engaged in quite a few rim runs and is yet a pretty good chunk of a man.

And then we saw Johnny McKinnon. No doubt Johnny knows more fighters past and present than we do. He was the masseur at the Dime gymnasium and in his capacity as "rubber" instantly could tell whether or not a fighter was in condition. In the days when Jimmie Dime had a large and active stable that job kept Johnny busy every day. John gave up that post years ago and nowadays his keenest sport is fishing.

Strolling around a corner we found Tommy Leach standing in a doorway. He recalled his sport writing days and told of acquaintances having Jack Blackburn to Beaver Falls. Not more than 50 fans were in the hall when Jack and his opponent took a quick glance at the crowd, looked toward his opponent then let go with a right in the gut of the stomach that brought down his opponent. Ten minutes later, when Blackburn was dressed his opponent was still pleading: "Please take it out, please take it out." Apparently the Unbeaten Blackburn had buried the glove in his body.

They say that Tony Ross and Jimmie Dunn were Jimmie Dime's fistie path-finders. No one can forget Pat Brannigan. In his days as a bantamweight his services were so much in demand he could not ac-

DiMaggio Is Only Noted Holdout On Outside Of Fence

Both Giants And Yanks Were Very Fortunate In Signing World's Series Stars

NEW YORK, March 17.—The Yankees and the Giants, respective winners of the American and National league pennants, today virtually were ready for beginning of the 1938 baseball season insofar as many power was concerned.

Youthful and ambitious outfielder Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees was named as the sole survivor of the yesterday's negotiations who engaged in salary squabbles with the championship team—Yankees or Giants as the case may be.

DiMaggio is one of the all-time greats right now at the age of 22. Imagine the fun he and Owner Ruppert are going to have over his salary before he has finished his career.

Temple Captures National Crown

NEW YORK, March 17.—The Temple Owls of Philadelphia today won the national basketball championship.

DiMaggio is one of the all-time greats right now at the age of 22. Imagine the fun he and Owner Ruppert are going to have over his salary before he has finished his career.

May Stay Out.

To remain out of baseball for a season might have lasting effect on him but that is less important than the fact that he has been offered a substantial raise in contract.

Volley Ball Game

The only ball game at the "Y" tonight will have the New Castle team facing the Pitt team. There is just one more match after tonight, the contest toward probable eventual Army meeting the Notre Dame team on March 22.

see himself knocking Carnera into the East river.

In his dressing room before the fight, Max recalled the first fight of his career, with a guy named Chief Cariboo, a gawky Indian, nine years ago.

"When I saw the chief with a rubber collar and a 1913 straw hat that was too small, I knew I could lick him—and I knew I could knock out Big Feet just as easy. I can't miss that big clown with this," and he held up his bandaged right hand.

A little later on Max imagined some other things about himself that were not so pleasant. As for he cracked up his right hand on Eddie Simms in Cleveland, he began to worry. That always was his best weapon, that and his native savagery. He began hitting it up in the night, spots, too. The dissipation didn't hurt his body a lot, because he never drank a great deal, but it did harm him a great deal mentally.

He began to imagine that he was slipping. He used to talk about his out-of-shape, he was in his own imagination he became a pushover.

Dean B. Goes
Well, he was a pushover for Jimmy Braddock. He went on to hit the lowest depths against Joe Louis. Though he still refuses to believe he quit to the Brown Bomber, that's what he did. I think he was convinced before the fight began that he was wasting his time trying to beat Louis. Maxie was thoroughly sold on the idea that Baer was washed up, that Baer couldn't hit any more, and that Baer was out of shape. That is what his fear of Louis was—not so much fear of Louis as complete surrender of himself.

Since then, many things have happened in his life, and in his mind. He sees himself as a father, fighting for his own honor in the eyes of his son. His imagination depicts a heroic Max Baer, battling his way past every obstacle. What's a closed eye to him when he's fighting a bum like Tommy Farr? Nothing at all in the life of the father of Max Baer, Jr. He's fighting for the sixth degree now, and he could be blindfolded and beat Tommy Farr.

If this mood lasts, Max is a dangerous man, and I wouldn't bet he couldn't beat Joe Louis tomorrow.

Off to the Levee

There was a young pugilist who rocked the world, first, because of his terrific wallop, and secondly, because he was a clown. . . .

discarding a life spent in the gay night clubs, our rollicking bad boy suddenly joined the ranks of the benefactors. . . .

again, he told the world he was a good boy now and was set to return to the ring. . . .

while the world laughed and took his words lightly, the former clown, worked discreetly, until he got a break. . . .

a chance to redeem himself. . . . still everyone believed it couldn't be only one person, with the exception of family members, had the confidence—$5,000 worth at odd of 1 to 2. . . .

the rest is history. Baer won, he won his way into the hearts of the fans again, and his manager, Angel Hoffman, collected a nice chunk on the wager.

I have known Max pretty well, and watched him rather closely since he began training in Atlantic City five years ago to meet Max Schmeling. He asked me if I thought he could beat Schmeling and I told him no. He sneered. If I had known the guy better, that sneer would have been enough, and I'd have written a piece for the paper to the effect he would have knocked Schmeling out.

"Listen," he said, "I can beat that kraut. I gotta blue print of his style. He's wide open for a right. I'll wear him down and punch his ears off."

"Couldn't Miss" Carnera
He had the same kind of feeling about Primo Carnera, from whom he won the world's title a year later. He looked into himself, used a little imagination and fore-
